PLANNING HUGE CELEBRATION OF JULY 4TH HERE

Merchants To Discuss Program Tuesday Night.

BRING THOUSANDS

Would Probably Include Ball Game and Patriotic Speeches In Day Time, Fireworks at Night.

Plans for a mammoth Fourth of July celebration in Middlesboro are being considered by the Middlesboro Merchants Association. Plans will be discussed and a tentative program made at a meeting of the organization at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday night at the Motch Motor company garage.

Members of the association and other business men are heartily in favor of staging a celebration here that will bring thousands of people into Middlesboro. All members of the association and others interested in a Fourth of July celebration are cordially invited to be presented at the meeting and offer their suggestions for the event.

Though no definite plans have been decided on yet, the attractions of Independence Day will probably include a ball game between Middlesboro and some other town of this section, patriotic addresses of prominent men and music by a large band during the day and a pyrotechnic display in the evening.

The Fourth of July is one occasion when people of the rural communities want to come to town. They expect a celebration of some sort and free attractions and are disappointed if such is not provided.

Last year there was no public celebration or program of any nature to bring them here, yet hundreds of people from the outlying sections came into town, doubtless expecting some attraction, came and spent the day. With a well-advertised celebration there is no doubt that one of the largest crowds ever to come to Middlesboro will be in evidence.

Two Held Here In Jail Admit Taking Money

W. M. Wallace and Paul Bill, alias Jim Ware, held in the city jail on charges of stealing money. Both men are reported by Constable J. M. Thompson who made the arrest to have confessed taking money from the desk of Jess Poore, billing clerk at the Lovett Fruit and Produce company.

Mr. Poore left over twenty dollars on his desk at noon. The money was gone when he returned and a negro, known as Jim Ware, was suspected of having taken it. Constable Thompson procured a warrant from City Judge C. A. Woods and made the arrest. He is said to have admitted taking eight dollars and, in his confession, implicated Wallace. With the aid of C. M. Yeary, policeman, that latter was arrest and was reported to have confessed getting a dollar and a half out of the deal.

Peggy Lifts Mortgage She's Worth Millions

RICHMOND, Va., June 7.—Peggy Hopkins Joyce, who recently visited the scenes of her childhood in Farmville, Va., after an absence of fourteen years, and took occasion while there to lift a mortgage of $3,000 from the home of her father, L. J. Upton, the town barber, gave no inkling during her visit that she was contemplating venturing for the fourth time on a matrimonial voyage. As a consequence, the town is all agog over news that she has claimed Count Costa Morner, a Swedish nobleman, for her fourth husband, Miss Joyce while in Farmville, Peggy told friends that she was worth several million dollars. The bulk of this it was understood, was received from her third husband, J. Stanley Joyce, wealthy Chicago lumberman, from whom she was divorced in 1911.

WASHINGTON, June 7—President Coolidge today vetoed the postal salary increase bill with the declaration that "government extravagance must stop."

COOLIDGE PLANS POSTAL BILL VETO

President Says It Would Impose Unwarranted Drain On Public Treasury.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 7.—Veto of the postal salary increase bill was decided upon today by President Coolidge. The president will return the measure to the Senate where it originated with a message declaring that it would impose an unwarranted drain upon the public treasury. Proponents of the legislation estimate that its cost would be around $64,000,000. Five classes of postal employes would receive an increase of $300. Majorities have been given the measure in both houses, the Senate having voted unanimously in favor of it. There is serious doubt, however, as to whether sufficient time remains to pass the bill over the presidential veto.

Explosion Yesterday At Hanover Colliery — Fire and Cave-Ins Follow.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., June 7.—Fifteen men are known to be dead and a score more were injured in the Loomis colliery of the Glen Alden Coal company in Hanover township yesterday.

The explosion occurred in the bottom vein of No. 4 slope, No. 2 shaft, when sparks from a blast are believed to have ignited a heavy pocket of gas. Forty-one men were working in the section. Some of these made their way to the roof of the shaft, all more or less burned.

Rescue crews at once entered the workings but their efforts were hampered by a serious fire and cave-ins that followed the explosion.

The colliery premises were besieged immediately after the explosion by relatives of the victims and thousands of curious.

In the afternoon an explosion occurred in the Truesdale colliery of the same company and one man was seriously burned.

'Death Ray' Fails In British Tests

By Associated Press.

LONDON, June 7.—The "deadly power of the death ray" failed to materialize in recent governmental tests, the House of Commons was told by William Leach, Under Secretary of the Air Ministry.

During the tests, he said, one of the Ministry's experts placed himself in the path of the ray only ten yards distant from the point of emanation. If the inventor's claim had been borne out the expert ought to have disappeared, but the Under Secretary was pleased to report that he was doing very nicely and when last seen showed no signs of having suffered.

FORMAL DEDICATION OF DAVIS MONUMENT

Crowds Throng at Fairview To Hear Speeches Honoring Southern Leader.

FAIRVIEW, June 7.—"After many a long and weary wandering, I return now to the place of my birth, and I come with those feelings which ever cling around the heart of every man who feels that he treads upon his native soil."

These words of Jefferson Davis, president of the Southern Confederacy, made to the townsfolk of Fairview in 1875 when he returned after a long absence abroad were echoed by Robert J. McBryde today, speaking at the birthplace of the departed leader before thousands gathered at the formal dedication of the Jeffrson Davis monument to the state of Kentucky.

Mr. McBryde came from Louisville with other members of the Jefferson Davis Home Association, which turned over the largest concrete obelisk in the world, 351 feet high, to the Commonwealth after years of building.

These years were pictured by Mr. McBryde up to the "recent session of the General Assembly which passed with full approval and co-operation of Gov. Fields, a measure appropriating $15,000 for the completion of this monument to President Davis."

"That measure further pledged that the perpetual care of this monument to President Davis should become the duty of the Commonwealth of Kentucky," he reviewed.

"With this appropriation and this pledge, the work begun more than ten years before by the Jefferson Davis Home Association was assured of successful conclusion."

He told how the association came into being at a reunion of the Orphan Brigade at Glasgow and how appropriations of Confederate bodies, reunited out by legislative and executive action of the state, had made the memorial possible.

His audience was challenged to answer why the survivors of the Orphan Brigade, as Kentuckians and veterans of "a cause that had perished in as complete disaster as had ever befell a nation" pledged themselves to the perpetuation of Jefferson Davis' memory.

"Was it not because they knew that the true measure of success is character, and that judged by brain and heart and courage Mr. Davis was worthy of their love and loyalty?

"Was it not because they knew that, though his cause had failed the principle of government on which the Southern Confederacy was founded, was one and the same with that principle which had governed the framers of the Constitution—a principle never challenged until the question of abolition had entered?

"Was it not because they could not forget some facts of history that we of a succeeding generation will do well to keep in memory?

"That when Mr. Davis became president of the Southern Confederacy an actual, not a threatened state of war existed—that the people of the South were an agricultural people without training in arms, without military equipment, without factories for its manufacture; with neither a stabilized currency nor credit, without even an established form of government.

"That upon Mr. Davis fell the duty of creating and maintaining that government at one and same time that he forged the instruments with which to wage a war against an enemy whose strength outmassed the South as greatly as did the strength of Germany outmass the strength of Belgium in the late war."

Mr. McBryde presented monument to the state, eulogizing the Confederate president.

FRANKFORT, Ky., June 7.—Wholesalers and jobbers selling gasoline were notified today by the state tax commission of the provisions of the 1924 Kentucky Gasoline Act, which goes into effect June 18, levying a three cents-a-gallon tax.

JOINT STATEMENT

Say High-Salaried Counsel Won't Be Employed — Milwaukee Man Offers Self on Gallows For Million.

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 7.—All blame for the murder of Robert Franks was placed upon Nathan Leopold by his former chum, Richard Loeb, in the latter's confession made public today. A letter from a Milwaukee man offering to substitute himself on the gallows for Leopold or Loeb if his heirs were paid $1,000,000 was received by the chief of police today.

Their millions will not be used to save Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, confessed slayers of Robert Franks, from the gallows, a joint statement issued last night by the fathers of the accused youths, both Chicago millionaires, said.

"Only such defense as that to which every human being is entitled will be provided for their sons," the statement said. "Assuming that the facts in this case are substantially as published, then the only proceeding they favor is a simple, solemn investigation under the law, touching the mental responsibility of their accused sons."

There will be no legal counsel outside of the attorneys now representing the accused, with one possible exception, the statement said and no large sums will be spent for either legal or medical talent and "in no event will the families of the accused boys use money in any attempt to defeat justice."

The statement, signed by Nathan F. Leopold, Sr., wealthy box manufacturer, and Albert H. Loeb, vice-president of Sears, Roebuck & Co., was issued a few hours after their youthful sons, brilliant university students, had been indicted for murder and kidnapping for ransom, each crime punishable by death, in connection with the slaying of 13-year-old Robert Franks, son of another Chicago millionaire.

"In view of the many statements that large sums of money will be used in the defense of Nathan F. Leopold, Jr., and Richard A. Loeb, the statement said, "the families of the accused boys desire to say that they have lived in Chicago for more than 50 years and the public can judge whether they have conducted themselves in such a way as to earn a standing as truthful, decent, upright, law-abiding citizens, conscious of their duties and responsibilities to the community in which they live.

"After the accused boys are found by a jury to be not mentally responsible, their families, in accordance with their conscious duty toward the community, agree that the public must be fully protected from any further menace by these boys.

"In no event will the families of the accused boys use money in any attempts to defeat justice."

THE UNITED STATES AND JAPAN

All this talk about possible war with Japan over the recently enacted law restricting still more immigration into the United States and prohibiting the entrance of foreigners ineligible to citizenship, is nonsense. The law includes the Japanese laborers.

Congress claims that immigration is a domestic question wholly, to be handled by Congress. Japan admits this, but claims the act of 1924 violates the so-called "gentleman's agreement" of 1907, and the treaty of 1921, also what is known as the "most favored nation" clause.

Japan, it appears, has gone so far as to threaten legal proceedings, perhaps before the league of nations. Congress replies that the United States is not a membed of the league of nations, and that organization has nothing to do with the question of immigration into the United States.

Is Japan's position a bluff? Time alone will tell.

1. The so-called "gentleman's agreement" of 1907 is a series of letters between the governments of Japan and the United States, in 1907 and 1908. The agreement was given some sort of standing by the ambassador of Japan attaching to the treaty of 1911 with Japan a note to the effect that Japan will maintain the limitation and control which they have for the past three years exercised in regulation of the emigration of laborers to the United States."

2. The treaty of 1911 is a treaty of commerce and navigation, and does not refer to immigration. If there is anything touching immigration, says the Congress, it should not be there, since the regulation of immigration belongs to Congress exclusively. No immigration treaties have been made since those with China in 1880 and 1894, and the latter was terminated in 1904.

3. The "most favored nation" clause is an ancient institution that seems to be doing about as much harm as good. Originally it was employed in all treaties of amity and commerce, to assure each party as favorable treatment in trade and commerce as any other nation. When Nation A makes a treaty with Nation B, granting some concession or privilege to Nation B, every other nation making a treaty with Nation A demands the "most favored nation" treatment; that is, the same concession or privilege Nation B has with Nation A.

In the early days of the American republic, when treaties of amity and commerce were made between the United States and other commercial nations, it was the custom to insert the "most favored nation" clause. It was thought this would prevent discrimination. Japan now invokes this old custom and claims that the United States by refusing to admit all persons who can not be naturalized citizens of the United States (which includes the Japanese) is violating the "most favored nation" clause.

The question is both interesting and important. Is immigration to this country a matter for congressional action, or for treaty, and perhaps the league of nations?

Just to thing next week Mangus Johnson will be at home milking the peaceful kine as in the good old days. That will be nice for the Johnson family and mighty good for the entire family.

PREPARE FOR A, B, C, AUDIT

Preliminary work towards becoming a member of the Audit Bureau of Circulation is now in progress in the Daily neWs office and within the next two months, the paper will be prepared to take the bureau's audit. This organization includes the leading papers of the United States, and was founded to supply accurate circulation data to advertisers, both local and national.

At the best, the larger proportion of a newspapers income must come from advertising. The development of advertising in the past two generations has been the direct cause of the growth and development of the American newspaper until the daily papers of the United States have become the greatest institution of their kind in the world.

The requirements of the Audit Bureau of Circulation are exacting, but fair. They require accurate data from every paper under their audit but the services rendered are such that the paper taking them is enabled to give its subscribers better service in every way. An increased advertising service enables any newspaper to give a better news service, and that, as a subscriper, is what you primarily buy—news.

The A. B. C. audit requires that all papers taking such have their subscription lists fully paid up, either in advance or up to the date of the audit. No subscription is counted that is in arrears, and the auditor orders such subscribers who are behind their subscription accounts to be dropped from the list.

The paid-in-advance condition of the Daily News subscription is highly gratifying and within the next few weeks, the paper will show a clean slate as to delinquent subscriptions. The steady circulation growth of the paper at the time when other business has suffered a temporary set back, shows that the subscribers both old and new, are fully awake to the value of the "home paper," and the outlook is highly favorable for its continued substantial growth. New towns are being entered weekly by the carrier system and the growth of the mail subscriptions in the Virginia-Tennesee section shows a steady increase from day to day.

Within the next few days all mail subscribers who are in arrears will be notified of the condition of the account. A reasonable time will then be given for payment after which period, the subscription will be dropped.

The city list is being put on the card-carrier book system used by the larger papers of the country. This system protects the subscriber in his payments and insures a better delivery service than is possible under the old monthly system of payments. When the card is delivered to you—it is your receipt and is recognized as final in the condition of the account. A careful check is kept on every route and the plan practically eliminates friction between patron and carrier.

LET'S CO-OPERATE IN THE HOME COMING.

With preparations for the Kentucky Home Coming nearly complete, Bell county seems to have done nothing in the way of arranging a local celebration or of organizing for those at other points.

Surely the memory of the sturdy pioneer who came forth through the wilderness like John the Baptist of old heralding a great civilization that was to come is not dead. Bell county, which has aided in building a great Commonwealth, should take some part in bringing from other parts of the country men and women who once claimed this state as their home

The Kentucky Home Coming is not confined to Louisville: That city being the largest in the state and centrally located took upon itself the responsibility of heading the movement and of providing headquarters for the celebration. It is the purpose of the promoters to have celebrations in every county and organizations have already been perfected in most of them for the work.

The Louisville organization is undertaking to prevail on all churches throughout the state to initiate the Home Coming with an evening service on Sunday, June 15th, which will reproduce the first religious service held at Harrodsburg 150 years ago. On Monday, June 16, the Louisville organization will undertake to send those visitors who have arrived, and as many Louisville people as possible, to Harrodsburg and Danville for the celebration of the 150th anniversary of Harrodsburg's founding.

Pineville being the county seat, should take the initiative in organizing for the campaign if it has not already done so. It is very likely that some local programs could be arranged if the work is once started here.

But think what a good time the copy readers on the Enquirer and Chicago Tribune had over the Butler story.

Time was a missionary had a chance to go shouting home to glory via the a la mode route of a Cannibal king's banquet. Now they just get caught and held to ransom. There ain't no fun in anything anymore.

Babe Ruth is Climbing To Front Again This Season

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 7.—Babe Ruth, who in 1921 achieved the honor of pelting out 59 home runs, has landed among the leading batters of the American League after a long chase.

The Yankees' star, threatening to challenge Harry Heilmann of the Tigers for leadership, today is batting in fifth place, with an average of .367, a gain of 31 points within a week. He continues to swing his bat with the same effectiveness in driving out the homers, having connected with two the last week, bringing his total up to thirteen. The figures include games of Wednesday.

Heilmann is still the best among the hitters, topping the list with an average of .404. This however, is a loss of 21 points from his mark of the previous week. His scoring efforts were better than those of Joe Harris of Boston and as a result he is leading the scorers with 38.

Ike Boone, the former Southern Association slugger, playing regularly for the Red Sox, continues to hang on Heilmann's heels with an average of .381. Harris of the Red Sox is third with .370.

Eddie Collins of the Chicago White Sox, failed to add to his base stealing record, but his nine thefts is enough to keep him on the top of the heap.

The hitting of Sam Rice of the Senators was one of the outstanding features. His clouting has been a big factor in placing the Senators at the head of the list in team batting with an average of .299, with Cleveland next with .298 and the Yankees third with .297. Rice went from a mark of .279 up to .338.

Other leading batters: Meusel, New York .364; Cobb, Detroit .352; Williams, St. Louis .349; McNulty, Cleveland .349; Jamieson, Cleveland .343; Sheely, Chicago .341; Rice, Washington .338.

Frank Snyder, veteran catcher of the New York Giants, has finally overtaken Rogers Hornsby, star of the Cardinals, for hitting honors in the National League. Snyder, in climbing to the leadership, has averaged approximately two hits a game, his average jumping to .408, a gain of 48 points. Hornsby, who held the spotlight almost all season, suffered a 20 point drop and is trailing the New York slugger with .401. Zack Wheat of the Dodgers and George Kelly, New York first baseman, are tied for third place honors with .386.

Frank Frisch of the Giants continues to lead in scoring, his total being 41. Jacques Fournier, of the Dodgers, clouted out two home runs and is showing the way with eleven. The base stealers did not show much activity, George Grantham of the Cubs, breaking past his rivals with eleven.

He also is leading in scoring, having counted 19 times, and is tied with Christenen, also of St. Paul, for honors in base stealing, with 49 each.

Vet Coughs Up Slug.

LANETT, Ala., June.—W. V. Meadows was shot in the eye at the Battle of Vicksburg. The doctors immediately probed for the bullet, but couldn't find it. Recently he had a violent coughing spell, and the bullet rolled out on the table. The bullet was in the form of a slug and weighed about an ounce. Meadows is 78 years old.

BERLIN, Germany, June.—Dr. Max Sostario, cornetist, was troubled by stagefright. To overcome this handicap he gave a private concert in a lion's cage at Hamburg. The lions at first sniffed suspiciously at the cornet, but later, as the doctor began triple-tonging feats on the horn, they stood off spellbound in a corner of the cage.

PAINS IN BACK
Arkansas Lady Says Mother Gave Her Cardui and She Had No More Trouble of This Kind.

Lamar, Ark.—Mrs. Edith Seeman, here, recently made the following statement describing her experience in the use of Cardui:

"I had pain in my back and sides; had sick headaches and my nose would bleed. I couldn't sit up at all.

"My mother gave me Cardui. I took about a half bottle and at this . . . I was able to get up and help with the work. Next time I took it again, and now, after taking 4 to 5 bottles, I do not have any trouble at all at this time. I gained, my skin cleared up, I am healthy and strong.

"My mother took Cardui for a weak, run-down condition. It did her more good for weakness and nervousness than any medicine she has ever taken. She took six bottles in all. We recommend it and certainly know its worth."

The foregoing is one out of thousands of statements which have been received from users of Cardui, the woman's tonic. If you are a sufferer from womanly ailments, try Cardui. It may be just what you need. At your dealer's. MC-154

TELLS WHAT REAL CHRISTIAN MEANS

Evangelist Preaches Stirring Sermon —Great Program Planned Tomorrow.

A large crowd composed of representatives from all the churches and a number of non-professors listened with intense interest to Dr. Andrew Johnson, the evangelist, at the First Methodist Church revival last evening as he gave his view of what it takes to constitute a real Christian.

A Christian, he said, "in the strict Biblical sense of the term means an anointed one. He is a disciple in knowledge, a saint in character, a soldier in conflict, a friend in communion, a child in relationship, a citizen in governmental status, a pilgrim in progress and an heir in expectation."

The singing, conducted by Prof. C. P. Gossett and the choir was entertaining and inspirational.

A great program is planned for the Sabbath. Dr. Johnson will speak at the morning hour on "Divine Worship of Life Service." In the afternoon he will deliver a lecture to men, especially all fraternal men, on the subject of "Fraternity, Equality and Christianity."

BAPTISTS STILL NEED 21 MILLION

Church Conservation Commission Develops Plan to Finish $75,000,000.

NASHVILLE, June 6.—Plans for raising between now and the end 1924, the sum of $21,000,000 in cash to complete the goal of the Baptist 75-million campaign were outlined here by the conservation commission of the Southern Baptist convention, Dr. L. R. Scarborough of Fort Worth, Texas, who was general director of the campaign, will return to Nashville and direct the task, in which an effort will be made to enlist every Baptist church in the south, along with every individual member.

At the same time the committee on the future program of the denomination which will succeed the 75-million campaign during 1925, elected Dr. C. E. Burts of Columbia, S. C., secretary of the general board of missions of the South Carolina Baptist convention, as general director, and Frank E. Burkhalter of Nashville as publicity director. The canvass of the churches in support of the 1925 budget will be made the week of November 30 to December 7, when an effort will be made to subscribe at least $15,000,000 for the Southern Baptist program for next year.

DEDICATES DAVIS MONUMENT FRIDAY

Thousands Will Gather For Dedication Services Held At Fairview.

By Associated Press.

FAIRVIEW, June 6.—The perpetual care of the Jefferson Davis monument tomorrow becomes the honored duty of the Commonwealth of Kentucky.

Arrivals at Hopkinsville, near here, began pouring in today and as many as 10,000 persons are generally expected to be gathered in this little village of 100 dwellers for the ceremony when the Jefferson Davis Home Association officials turn over the largest concrete obelisk in the world to Gov. Fields in behalf of the Commonwealth.

Rising 351 feet, the proud memorial, builded here at the birthplace of the only President of the Southern Confederacy, today drew from the admiring hosts, sons of the Orphan Brigade, whose veterans determined that President Davis' birth should be preserved as a memorial.

Members of the twenty-fifth annual reunion of the Confederated Southern Memorial Association, came from Memphis upon conclusion of memories and the motto of yesteryear:

"Lord God of Hosts, be with us yet, Lest we forget, lest we forget."

General William B. Haldeman, former Commander of the Orphan Brigade, and then Commander-in-Chief of the United Veterans of the Confederacy, was here to discharge the duty laid upon him as head of the Jefferson Davis Association, created by veterans of the Orphan Brigade.

Gov. Fields was here to take for Kentucky the sacred trust to guard well the fruits of that labor, to the end that the monument here builded at the birthplace of Jefferson Davis shall ever stand tall and straight and strong to say to all the world through all the years that Kentucky and the South still hold his name in honor and in reverence," in the words of Robert J. McBryde, of the Association, Louisville, another prominent arrival and speaker.

Daughters of the Confederacy and of the Confederate Women's Memorial Association, came with husbands, fathers, and grandfathers, and sons and grandsons, Kentuckians, to attend tomorrow's ceremony.

UNIVERSITY KEEPS CHARACTER RECORD

Are Available to Manufacturers and Other Employes of Graduates.

BERKELEY, Cal., June 6.—Personality records of graduates in engineering, declared equally for more valuable than scholastic achievements, are now kept by the University of California and are made available for manufacturers and other employers of young engineers.

All juniors and seniors are rated both by members of the faculty and their fellow students as to character address, appearance, leadership, disposition, popularity, speed in work, accuracy and attention to detail. A student committee is asked each year to rate the members of its class. These ratings are compared with those of the faculty and an average thus is struck.

The students' rating has the weight of one instructor's rating and, according to the university authorities, it has been found that the students are more strict than the teachers.

Professor Blake E. Vanleer, in discussing the system, points out that employers do not select college graduates primarily because of their scholastic grading, but put a high value on personal recommendation.

The personality records are permanent, so that the graduate is protected, with the passing years, against the death or resignation of the professors who knew him best.

Professor Vanleer reports that personnel officers from large corporations come regularly to the College of Mechanics to study the data of those about to be graduated, and to check the records by their own observation of candidates for employment.

It is explained that a man need not rate high in every particular to be acceptable. If, for instance, he is rated relatively low in precision and detail, he may stand high enough in other respects to make an excellent salesman or executive: while for research or technological work, diffidence is no bar, though accuracy in necessary.

Favors Open Spaces

NEW YORK, June.—Joe Jones, well-known Wyoming guide, has heard the call of the great open spaces, where all the dogs aren't lap-dogs and where "men don't ride like cattle in a cattle-car." Jones will do a one-legged dance on the summit of a mountain crag any day, but he is afraid of New York and wants to leave on the first train west.

Wives Beat Husbands

VIENNA, Austria, June.—Wives may whip faithless husbands and the husbands mustn't complain, according to a recent decision of the Austrian Supreme Court. When a woman beats her wayward spouse, the court holds such a beating is "just the natural reaction to his conduct."

THE VISION
By Walter Greenough

Reach down, oh Steady Hand enclose him fast,
Then rise from off the higher hills and draw
Upon the canvas of a nearer heaven—
Where men may ever gaze—the vision that he saw!

Lift him, oh, Hand, all gently to the heights,
Where suns may bathe his bruise against the hour.
When, whole again, the purpose that was his
Shall, too, be lifted, and—in the hearts of men—shall flower.

Hated—ah, yes, but by the grave's raw edge,
Such things as little hatreds stumble—fall—
When, with the majestiy of unbound soul,
A mighty spirit answers to a mightier call.

Hated—ah, yes, but what are little hates
But little deaths that wander on and on,
Bereft of truth—unsinging as they go—
To end at last all-powerless against the dawn.

Reach down, oh, Steady Hand, and bear him on,
To where the little hates are seared in dawn—
But if Thou find his mantle on the hills,
Leave it behind, oh, Hand, for us—then lift him on!

Women To Play Big Part In Convention At Cleveland

Associated Press.

CLEVELAND, June 6.—More women delegates and alternates will attend the national Republican convention here in June than ever attended a political gathering in the past, David W. Mulvane, Kansas, chairman of the national committee on arrangements, announced here after a survey of election results in several states.

"Thirty-four stated will send fifty-eight women delegates at large. This number is in addition to the regularly elected delegates and alternates, numbering more than 400, from state congressional districts. The number is also exclusive of Montana, South Dakota, and Florida, whose delegates and alternates had not yet been named. California sends four women delegates at large, Tennessee and New Mexico send three each, and Connecticut, Iowa, Massachusetts, Missouri, Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Rhode Island, Washington, Wyoming and Indiana send two each, while Arizona, Arkansas, Colorado, Deleware, Idaho, Illinois, Kentucky, Maine, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Pennsylvania, Virginia and Wisconsin one each."

In view of the large number of women who will attend the convention, the special women's committee has arranged entertainment, not only for women delegates and alternates, but for wives of delegates, newspaper publishers and correspondents and women journalists who cover the convention. Boat rides on Lake Erie, sightseeing trips, receptions, teas at clubs, golf tournaments at country clubs, horseback and motor trips have been arranged.

Mrs. Nettie M Clapp, Cleveland, is chairman of the women's committee. Associate women members of the Republican national committee who arrived in Cleveland June 1, include Mrs. Leonard G. Woods, Pittsburgh, second vice-chairman of the national committee, and Mrs. Harriet Taylor Upton, Warren, O., vice chairman of the Republican national committee.

Big Ben Blues Win From Winonas 10-4; Perry Star of Game

The Big Ben Blues won their third game of the season when they turned the Winona team at the East End ball park yesterday afternoon. The final score was 10-4.

The Big Ben Blues have won three games out of the five which they have played this year, making their average .600. Brake was pitcher for the Blues and Jennings was catcher. The same batteries were used as in the former games. Spanglers pitched for the Winona boys and Sowders was catcher.

Though all of the Big Ben players made a good showing, special mention is due E. Perry, c. f., and Cannon, r. f., who also made some good catches. J. Perry, shortstop, was evidently the star of the game.

In the next game which will be played some time during the coming week, Albert Weinstein, first baseman, who is now out of town, will take part. The public is cordially invited to see the exhibitions of the Big Ben Blues team which is fast winning a name in the national outdoor sport.

Thirteen Children Are Coming Back For Home Coming

By Associated Press.

FRANKFORT, June 7.—There's lots of talk about Kentucky's Home Coming but here's one Harry G. Evans, secretary and managing director of the Louisville Convention and Publicity League, hasn't heard about. It's "straight news" too, to wit:

Ben Marshall, 62, hale and hearty, secretary of the state tax commission and "Ma" Marshall, a fair daughter of Kentucky, today welcomed home from Phoenix, Ariz., their 32-year-old son, Charlie. He is the first of their thirteen children to arrive for a "little" home cooking, Ben said. The Marshalls will a little latter receive seven "in-laws," (not "outlaws," Ben points out) the wives of four married sons and the husbands of three married daughters. Then there will be ten grandchildren to enliven the Marshall Home Coming, which with Ben and Mrs. Marshall, will total 32, savoring sides of bacon, slices of ham, and the biscuits that only only "Ma" Marshall can prepare.

Ben, who is daily surrounded by a battery of adding machines, declared "32" is correct.

Besides having been Franklin circuit court clerk, collector of internal revenue for four years under President Wilson, and secretary of the tax commission the last seven years, Ben recently counted heads in the county democratic mass convention.

KENTUCKY RINGS TOCSIN FOR SONS

Organization In Chicago Plans to Come to Native State for Home-coming.

CHICAGO, June 6.—Kentucky is ringing the tocsin for her sons.

A great meeting for Kentuckians in Chicago is planned by the Kentucky Society of Chicago with offices at 208 South LaSalle Street, including a dinner of elaborate proporations and a home coming.

The purposes of the Kentucky Society of Chicago as stated in its by-laws are:

"To keep alive, foster and promote that love of their native state and that patriotic loyalty to their old Kentucky home for which all true Kentuckians are so justly prout and so widely noted, as well as to cement friendships, be mutually beneficial and to promote acquaintance and social intercourse among all former Kentuckians."

The dinner is to be staged the night of June 10 at 7 o'clock. Among the speakers are Edwin P. Morrow, former Governor of Kentucky, and Dr. James Whitney Hall.

The dinner is not all. Chicagoans who come from Kentucky are urged to make a hoem-coming trip during the weeks from June 16 to June 29, with the Kentucky Home Coming Association of Louisville in geenral charge.

The affair is to be a monster house party, according to plans, with "Colonel Kaintuck and Ole Miss" as general host and hostess. From one end of the state to the other preparations have been made. Low railroad rates for the occasion add incentive for Chicagoans to take the trip.

New Children's Books Ordered For Library

A number of new children's books have been ordered for the Carnegie library and are expected soon. A set of the Encyclopedia Americana of the late edition has also been ordered.

Advent of warm weather is not causing any decrease in the number of daily patrons at the library. An average of about fifty books are loaned each day and a number of persons use the reading room. It has been noted that visitors, and tourists, stopping for a while, here make good use of the library.

More Closed Cars Are Sold In This District

Associated Press.

FOR THE PREVENTION OF SIMPLE GOITER

Your State Department of Health Urges Its Use

In a Bulletin issued by the Department of Health, State of Virginia, in March 1924, Dr. E. G. Williams, Commissioner, makes the following statement:

"The State Board of Health recommends that in localities where goiter is common, a table salt containing a suitable quantity of sodium iodide (Iodine) be used regularly for cooking and table purposes."

Goiter is an enlargement of the thyroid gland due to a deficiency of iodine in the food or water supply. After goiter of any kind has developed to a point where the person notices the swelling or feels the nervousness or irritability which are so often a part of the condition, its treatment is considered very difficult. However, simple goiter can be prevented by supplying the food deficiency—iodine—in table salt. This method has been recommended by the health authorities in Virginia and other States. This is the purpose of Mulkey's "Iodine Salt." In taste and color it is the same as ordinary free-running salt, but it contains the prescribed amount of iodine to keep the thyroid gland in a normal condition.
